

Where lake levels are concerned, people hard to please

Striking a balance can be a challenge

by Len Plizze

If Herb Ireland had a favourite aphorism, it would probably go like this: you can please all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but you can't please all of the people all of the time.

Though he might not express it in quite that way, Herb Ireland knows how hard it is to keep people happy. As supervisor of the Haliburton office of Parks Canada responsible for the Trent/Severn Waterway dams in the area, Ireland and the five men who work for him have the sometimes difficult task of keeping area lakes full of water while at the same time supplying the needs of a canal system that ends in Trenton on Lake Ontario. And though Ireland and his staff do their job with a combination no matter what you do. If the levels are too high, you get complaints. If you let them go, you get complaints."

Still, things are better than they used to be along Trent/Severn system. In the days before cottagers came to the county, no one thought much about lake levels. Logging dams held back the spring runoff, and the water was used to keep timber moving down the stream to the mill as long as possible. If a lake dropped several feet below its spring time level, it didn't make much difference. But with the proliferation of cottages, the need to maintain the lakes at optimum levels grew. Concrete dams with 12 inch logs were a help, but still there were radical fluctuations in lake levels as water was drawn off. About three years ago, six inch steel stop logs were introduced allowing the of experience, computer analysis and plain old commonsense, they often hear the voices of irate cottagers and property owners.

This year for example, there was very little snow. Logs were placed in the dams earlier than usual in an effort to store as much runoff as possible. But then came the rains and the lakes in the upper system filled up faster than the water could be let off. At one point, Drag Lake registered 114 percent full. The water was eight or nine inches higher than it should have been, property was under water, and the telephone at the local office and at headquarters in Peterborough began to ring.

But Ireland is philosophical about it. "What do you do," he says. "You're going to get complaints

Parks Canada men to regulate lake levels more precisely. Now, the complaints are fewer and the problems less serious.

The process of monitoring and maintaining the lake levels is a complex one in which a computer is used to supplement the old 'eye ball' technique that used to suffice. Each Monday, Ireland and his men travel the county to read the gauges places on dams and streams. Levels are noted and checked against graphs for each particular dam. By comparing the water's depth in centimetres from the base of the dam and applying it to mathematical tables, the men are able to determine the lakes capacity in percentage terms. Thus a lake can be more than 100 percent full in

Tired of brushoff on street condition

Minden council wants to sue MOE

In a gesture of frustration, Anson, Hindon and Minden council has decided it will try to sue the Ontario Ministry of the Environment unless roads in the village of Minden are fixed. Roads were ripped up during construction of the village's sewers, and have not been repaired to council's satisfaction. Repeated complaints to the Ministry have brought no action and the threat of a law suit is seen by council as a lever of last resort.

The idea of launching a suit against the Ministry was put forward by councillor Stuart Brandon. He said council should "sue the Ministry (of the Environment) for half a million dollars "for repairs to the village streets, including the road leading to the waterworks plant.

His proposal quickly drew support among the rest of council, all of whom viewed the suit as a means of pressing the Ministry for action.

Following a brief discussion of the matter, council passed a resolution noting that unless something is done to resolve the problem before June 1, it intends to launch a lawsuit against the Ministry.

Council will advise its solicitor to forward the notice of intention to the Ministry on its behalf.

Ontario Provincial Police divers were combing the bottom of Horseshoe Lake for the third consecutive day Tuesday in search of the bodies of two Toronto area people missing and presumed drowned.

Daniel Biss, 20, of Scarborough, and Trisma Brans, 19, of West Hill, were among a group of young people who had been visiting a cottage on the lake over the weekend.

Police say details about the incident are sketchy, but that

Operation contravenes Anson, Hindon, Minden by-law

Concrete plant ordered stopped

The operators of a concrete mixing plant who rented property on the Minden by-pass from Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Sinc Nesbitt have been told the plant cannot operate unless the property is rezoned.

McConnell Redi-mix of Fenelon Falls have moved machinery onto the land on the east side of the by-pass, but have not come to council for approval.

Nesbitt told council he did not want to be held accountable for the company's actions.

"I don't want to be caught in the middle here," he said, referring to what he termed "all the backbiting on the street."

"I rented my property as a commercial property," he said, adding that "from then on," it was up to the company to come to council for approvals.

Deputy reeve Doug Pritchard was adamant that the plant was inappropriate on the by-pass. "They're not the cleanest outfit," he said. "Nobody's saying anything about you (reeve Nesbitt) but they should have come to council."

"My own personal opinion is that's no place for a cement plant," Pritchard said.

By-law enforcement officer Dick Schell told council the property in question is presently zoned General Commercial 'B', which permits, among other things, building supply yards, and which, until zoning By-law 14-67 was amended several years ago, would have permitted the concrete plant to operate.

Schell said it was up to council to decide if the

New bakery for Haliburton could mean up to 20 jobs

A new bakery employing 20 full-time and an additional 10 people in the summer time will be opening in Haliburton, July 1.

Linda Forbes, of Linkert Bakery in Wilberforce, said the company will be moving to its new location on Maple Street next to The Old Barn restaurant around the first of July "if all goes well."

She said Tuesday that 15 of the full time positions will be new jobs and that they are rapidly being filled.

The building, which will be leased from John Beachli

Construction Enterprises, will be 4,800 square feet on each of its two floors.

Forbes said it was quite an expansion for the baker and that it would be "a big enterprise". It will be operating as a wholesale/retail outlet and will be serving stores and restaurants in the area including Minden, Carnarvon and Norland.

She noted the Wilberforce bakery was serving some of these businesses now but that the new location would allow for a big addition to their

Detachment commander 'lays his cards on the table'

Termed a 'test', rock concert orderly, despite OPP concern

Fears that a rock concert Sunday night in Minden would see a repeat of an incident last fall in which two Minden OPP cruisers were damaged proved unfounded, despite the fact that a number of liquor charges were laid.

Minden OPP detachment commander sergeant Bill Bailey said Tuesday he was "exceptionally pleased with the way the kids behaved" at the concert. "Everything was very orderly," he said, adding that "as long as they keep things orderly like that, I don't see any problems."

Last Wednesday, Bailey and P/C Gary Chapman attended a meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council to voice objections to the series of concerts planned for this summer.

At that meeting Bailey told council that he was "very much against" the concerts. Noting that similar concerts have given police "a great deal of concern and trouble," Bailey said he could not assign extra men to police the concert because of budget cutbacks and controls on spending for overtime.

"I simply do not have enough men here (in Minden) to police it properly," Bailey said. He said he could assign no more than four men to the concert, and that if the "potentially very volatile" situation that exists at a concert got out of hand, it could take "two or three hours" before extra men could be on the scene from other detachments.

Bailey also expressed concern that the promoter may have violated his contract agreement with Minden's Recreation Committee, which had called for restrictions on advertising outside the county. The sergeant said a spot check by the OPP in other areas had found signs advertising the Sunday concert in Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa, Bracebridge, Huntsville, Midland and a number of other cities. Radio advertising was also being used to promote the concert, Bailey said.

Councillor Stuart Brandon, a member of the recreation committee, said the committee had an agreement with the promoter that he would "do everything in his power" to prevent a recurrence of the incident last fall in which beer and liquor bottles were hurled at police cruisers by a crowd waiting to get into a concert. He said Sunday's concert would serve as a test, and that if problems occurred, the recreation committee would consider barring future concerts.

But Brandon questioned why the Minden detachment commander would come to "a public forum and express concerns that have not happened."

the health unit had not been asked to determine if the arena's facilities could handle a crowd that might number in the thousands.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt asked if council thought holding the concerts was "worth it" for the $300 arena rental fee that goes to the recreation committee. "I didn't think we were going to get into this game," Nesbitt said.

MOH to recommend steps

A, H M seeks funds for zoning by-law

Anson, Hindon and Minden council should know within five weeks if it needs a completely new zoning by-law, or if the existing by-law can be upgraded. That is how long two officials of the Ministry of Housing have told council it would take to examine the present by-law (14-67) in light of the county's planning strategy to determine which course the municipality should follow.

Joe Newton and Ale Syed, area planners, said considering the present by-law along side the planning strategy should enable the Ministry to identify inconsistencies and other problems within the municipality's by-law. Once they have been determined, council and the Ministry will make a decision on what course should be followed to upgrade the by-law, but Ministry representative Pat Vanini, who was also present at the meeting last Wednesday, said 75 percent funding could be available for major amendments or a new by-law. Slight changes to the by-law, which she termed "house-keeping", would not qualify for provincial assistance.

"I personally think it needs a major overhauling," Nesbitt said.

Vanini noted that there had been "quite a few" amendments to By-law 14-67, and that ten or 11 years is about as long as a zoning by-law should exist before it is upgraded. She noted one weakness in the present by-law is "a lot of commercial zones, and not very much difference in permitted uses among them."

Based on the complexity of the present by-law and amendments, Vanini said her "inclination would be to go for a new document."

A decision is expected to be made once the Ministry officials have completed their study of the by-law.

But Nesbitt also questioned the OPP on their approach to illegal drinking at the concerts.

"I am amazed that our police officers don't stop the drinking out in the yard," the reeve said.

Bailey replied that "we can't do it. It's just an explosive situation." He said

Festival of Fun raises $182 for Learning group

Haliburton, Minden and Camarvon scouting groups' festival of fun contributed $182 to the Haliburton County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, last Thursday night.

The annual event sponsored by the three group committees, chooses a local charity each year to be the beneficiary of a pass-the-hat collection during the night of entertainment.

Talent came from across the county to donate time and to please the audience with their acts. Choirs from the local public schools as well as the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts sang to the near capacity crowd that filled the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School gymnasium.

The audience also listened to country and western music, gospel singing and an acapella ballad sung by Stephen Morrin of the Haliburton Highlands Little Theatre.

The school's girls gymnastic team presented their routines and several recitations were given.

The scouts also opened and closed the night with their traditional grand howl exercises.

Stanhope council meeting

At the May meeting of Stanhope Township council, the following matters were considered:

Council acknowledged receipt of apportionment figures to the Board of Education but expressed alarm at the rate of increase and its inflationary impact on all municipalities in the county and the reluctance of the ratepayers to support this increase.

Council supported and endorsed a resolution passed by the Town of Dunnville, requesting the federal and provincial governments to establish a special reserve fund and adopt a uniform policy or criteria to administer a special reserve fund and adopt a uniform policy or criteria to administer and disperse such funds when disaster strikes in areas throughout the province. The resolution will be forwarded to all interested parties.

Council authorized a donation of $50 to the Port Hope Disaster Relief Fund.

Council will abide with Minutes of Settlement dated January 19, 1979 re: Roberts vs. Hodsoll and the Township of Stanhope. Any deviation will cause costs of further changes to be born by Charles and Mary Roberts, plaintiffs, council decided.

James Dewey will be invited to attend the July council meeting to discuss resource management. Also, woodlot management folders are to be printed and enclosed with all tax bills and township correspondence.

Council acknowledged receipt of the minutes of a recreation committee meeting held April 30, 1980.

Council appointed the following persons as a hiring committee for the 1980 Summer Youth Employment Programs: David McKinnlay, Toos Reid, James Harrison and Gerald Bain.

Council acknowledged receipt of the fire chief's April monthly report and also the proposed 1980 fire department budget. Information with respect to the proposed budget will be forwarded to the fire department committee at a later date.

Council authorized payment of wages for time spent on pumper repairs: George Wilson 12 hours at $5.08 and Dale MacDonald, four hours at $5.08.

Advance funding for Stanhope Fun Day will be made available as required. It is understood that all revenue will be turned back into general funds. Any surplus will be put in a special account for use in the next annual fun day.

Council authorized an amendment to the Development Agreement between Mrs. Kathleen Osinchuk and the township dated December 5, 1979 specifically on item #2 to read $5,000 not $10,000 as previously noted.

Council authorized full payment for property attained from the Martin Brothers in the form of two picture windows formerly installed in the township office. This will be transacted when a signed deed is received by the township.

Council acknowledged receipt of objections on By-law 80-3 from Mr. Harold Culley and Mr. S. Brown and invited each to attend the next regular meeting for further discussion on the matter.

The road superintendent was permitted to hire J.A.C. Kernohan for the purpose of screening sand for hardtopping as per price quoted subject to the approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

It was resolved that: "Whereas council is receiving a number of requests from ratepayers for the stopping up, closing and/or conveying to abutting property owners the original allowance for road on navigable waterways."

"And Whereas the Minister of Natural Resources has indicated to the press and media, etc., that his ministry does not have any objection to such closures providing the same will not have any detrimental effect on any area of concern under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Natural Resources." "And Whereas any Road Closing By-law relative to these areas requires the approval of the Minister of Housing." "And also whereas the mentioned by-laws also require the approval of the council of the county." "And whereas the council of this township has not received any written official policy from the Minister of Housing with respect to the provincial government policy on these road allowances as a legislative body." "And whereas the council of this township has not received any written official policy from the council of the county in this respect." "Now therefore council hereby acknowledges receipt of these applications for closing of original allowances for road on navigable waterways and recommends to the applicants, these requests be concrete plant was in fact "a building supply yard" and therefore in conformity with the by-law.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt claimed that no copy of an amendment to the original GCB zoning was circulated to property owners along the by-pass, and that the provisions of the old GCB zoning should apply.

But councillor Stuart Brandon stressed that permitted uses in a General Commercial 'B' zone were quite specific, and that a concrete plant was not a permitted use. Such plants are allowed however, under an M-2 zone.

"I would say it is in direct contravention to our zoning by-laws," Brandon said. He said no other business has ever been allowed to operate in contravention of the by-law, and that if council let the concrete plant operate in the GCB zone, it would open itself to suit from any ratepayer.

"It's in an improper zone," Brandon said. "You can't have it. It's in black and white."

Councillor Lyle McKnight agreed. He said that if regulations calling for concrete plants in M-2 zones only are waived, "you might as well scrap" the zoning by-law.

In an effort to resolve the problem, council passed a resolution stating that the plant cannot operate until a zoning change has been sought for the property by its owner, Sinc Nesbitt. The resolution sets a 30-day limit for the application to be received.

early spring, and perhaps 85 percent full by late summer or early fall.

When the spring freshet is running, Ireland and his men change logs in dams throughout the county frequently based largely on their own observations. But once the Trent/Severn canal comes into operation for boater traffic, levels in the reservoir lakes in Haliburton are controlled from the head office of the system in Peterborough. Ireland provides the head office with the information he and his men have gathered on Monday, and it is fed into a computer. Taking weather and other conditions into account, the computer determines the long changes for the next day. Tuesday, the men carry out the changes prescribed by the computer, adding or removing half or whole logs at various dams to keep the water flowing south and to keep the levels consistent in all the reservoir lakes.

Wednesday's crews are busy with repair and maintenance work on the dams. One of their more recent tasks has been to construct covers for the stop log holes and install them on area dams. In place, the covers provide a measure of protection to the public. But they don't always stay put for long. Ireland and his men constantly face the damage done by vandals. Stop log covers are thrown into lakes and rivers. Stop logs are pitched into streams or jammed into dam openings. And liferings, which cost $60 apiece, disappear as fast as they can be put up.

Ireland says the dam at Norland is the worst one for vandalism. Already this year, six life rings have been stolen or tossed into the river. Stop log covers have disappeared week after week. Headquarters has told Ireland not to put any more liferings on the dam, but he admits he is reluctant to comply. He thinks the cost of a ring is small compared to the value of the life it might save. But the vandals don't seem to see it that way.

On Thursdays, the men return to the dams to take water level readings again. Friday, the computer sends back log changes, and they are carried out during the day.

In winter there are fewer log changes to make, but a smaller crew is kept busy with maintenance work and snow sampling to determine water content.

On the face of it, the job seems routine enough, but keeping the lake levels uniform in an area as large as Haliburton County is, in fact, a complex business.

And, of course, there's always the human element to keep you on your toes. The cottagers, as Herb Ireland knows, may not be able to do much about that computer in Peterborough. But they can get ahold of the local office if something about the water levels just doesn't seem to be right. And they often do.

Herb Ireland, supervisor of Parks Canada's Haliburton County office, uses a peevie to roll a stop log out of the opening of the Norland dam. Vandals had tried to jam the log through the opening, but it stuck part way down. Vandalism is a constant problem for the Parks Canada workers.

Cardiff council holds meeting

At the May meeting of Cardiff Township council, the following matters were considered:

The clerk was authorized to deposit the sum of $5,000, in trust to Donald Finn, township solicitor with respect to the transfer of title from the Crown, Lot 17, Concession 10.

Council accepted the conveyance of Part 2, Plan 19R-2071, part of Lot 7, Concession 22 from Annie Andrews to the Township of Cardiff, being part of the Mumford Road; The township agreed to pay $100, for said property for legal and registration fees.

A by-law to close, stop-up and convey part of the original allowance for road between Lots 25, 26, Concession 20, confirming the portion already closed in 1978 and confirmed by the county, was read a first, second and third time, passed, signed, sealed and numbered By-law No. 7-80.

Council accepted an authorization to convey part of the road allowance between Lots 25, 26, Concession 20 to Mrs. Howard Peel; said authorization has been signed by Goldie Watson, Gertrude Vader, and Warren Peel and said road allowance has been closed by municipal by-law.

Council accepted a contractor's Estimate from Garfield Hogan in the amount of $1,300, for Ontario Home Renewal Loan #4601000005.

Council accepted with regret the resignation of Bruce Gould as the township's representative on the Land Division Committee for the county.

Council accepted a tender for used oil from Canam Oil Services for 44.9 cents per gallon for the supply and application of approximately 18,000 gallons of waste oil, subject to approval of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

Council stated the municipality does not intend, at this time, to dispose of any parts of municipal shoreline allowances, regardless of the recent policy announced by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Council donated the sum of $1,000, toward the purchase of a new 1980 3/4 T., GMC van used as a rescue vehicle under agreement with Burleigh-Anstruther, Methuen and Chandos.

Council passed a resolution noting that whereas the Municipal Act, Section 547, (1), gives authority for council to apportion the assessment of certain lands registered kept on file by the municipality for future consideration when the policies of the provincial and county governments are received and a subsequent municipal policy can be adopted.

The clerk was asked to contact the provisional County of Haliburton to obtain a county policy with respect to a proposal from ratepayers to stop up, close and convey the 66 foot Marine or original allowance for road on navigable waterways within the county.

Council noted it appreciates the efforts of the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs in covering the openings of the Trent Severn control dams in the area. It was suggested that one of the stop logs left hung level with the deck of the dam would effectively block the opening and could be secured by the same chain that looks up the hoisting mechanism. This would save the cost and inconvenience of replacing a separate cover. The motion was defeated.

The clerk was asked to send Bill Scott, M.P., and the Trent Waterways a letter of thanks for their effort in protective covers installed on dams in this area.

Council approved general accounts totalling $4,734.37; road voucher totalling $12,731.10 and April welfare totalling $3,346.58.

By-laws 80-6 to close municipal roads on a temporary basis, 80-7 to appoint a safety officer for the Stanhope Municipal Airport, 80-8 to authorize the reeve and clerk to execute documents, 80-9 to authorize a municipal road opening and accept a road into the municipal road system, 80-10 to provide for the salaries and wages for municipal employees during 1980, were passed.

A, H & M council wants official plan rule waived

'Loophole' needed, MOH told

Officials of the Ontario Ministry of Housing have promised to help Minden seek a loophole from provincial requirements that state a town or village must have an official plan before its business improvement area (BIA) can qualify for government loans.

At a meeting last Wednesday, councillor Stuart Brandon told Ministry representatives Pat Vanini, Joe Newton and Ale Syed that the village needs an exemption from the regulations if its BIA program is to get off the ground. Brandon said council felt the zoning by-law coupled with the county's planning strategy, should be sufficient to qualify Minden's BIA for the loans.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt told the Ministry officials that an official plan was unrealistic for the village.

"Hell's going to be raised if we have to do an official plan that separates the little town of Minden from the planning strategy," he said, adding that council wanted an exemption from the rules.

Ministry official Pat Vanini noted that creating an official plan is a complex process that would take at least a year. But, she pointed out that the county's planning strategy may not take the place of an official plan, since the strategy is not a legal document under the terms of the present Planning Act.

However, she said she would "persue as quickly and strongly as possible," obtaining an exemption to the official plan rule for Minden's BIA.

"We need a hole through the door," reeve Nesbitt said. "We just have to have it."

Minden BIA formed by by-law, 60 days allowed for objections

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has passed a by-law to establish a business improvement area in the village of Minden.

The area to be designated for improvement contains some 53 businesses, and extends down both sides of the main street from the IGA food store to the offices of Dr. John Purc.

Passage of the by-law came in the wake of a recent meeting of local business operators and the completion of a survey to assess if there was sufficient interest among them to make a BIA program possible.

The by-law does not make the BIA a reality however. That will not come until the by-law has been circulated to all affected business people, and a 60-day period has been allowed for objections. If at least two-thirds of the business operators within the proposed area are in favour of a BIA program, it will become official.

Only other hurdle to be overcome is the waiving of a rule regarding official plans. Council as received the assurance of Ministry of Housing officials that they will seek an exemption to the rule requiring an official plan before low interest loans can be obtained from the province.

An exemption that should be granted

The efforts of Minden business people and municipal councillors to advance a business improvement area for the village may be impeded by a bureaucratic hurdle. While the BIA can be formed with approval of two-thirds of the business people involved (and approval now seems likely), improvements to the main street will be small unless low interest loans are made available by the provincial government. While there is money in provincial coffers earmarked for the purpose, it is only available to communities which have an official plan.

The wisdom of that regulation may be demonstrable in larger communities, where extremely large expenditures could be involved, but it seems unrealistic for a community the size of Minden.

Minden has a zoning by-law, albeit an old one badly in need of updating. And Haliburton County has a planning strategy approved by the provincial Minister of Housing which includes the village of Minden.

Although the planning strategy has no legal status, (unlike an official plan) it was considered sufficient for the county's present needs. It would be unfair then, for the provincial government to expect Minden to go to the trouble and expense of creating an official plan which would circumvent the county's planning strategy before it could get loans for use in the BIA.

The Ministry of Housing should waive the official plan regulation for Minden's BIA. If it does not, it will be doing more than hindering improvements to the village. It will also be taking what few teeth there are out of a planning document that took more than $75,000 and untold hours to create.

To the victor shall go the spoils

Like a latter day David, Anson, Hindon and Minden council has decided to take up the sling. Arming itself with ammunition from its heaved and pot-holed streets, council has decided to face its Goliath, the provincial Ministry of the Environment, on the battlefield of Ontario's judicial system. At a meeting last Wednesday, council served notice that unless it gets some satisfaction from the Ministry on repairs to village streets damaged during a sewer construction program, it intends to take the matter to court. The spoils of the contest? A smoother ride for area motorists, or half a million dollars.

The fact that council is perhaps not entirely serious in its threat, will come as good news to many. To be sure, the image of such a tiny David felling such a formidable Goliath has a certain mythic appeal. But it must be remembered that whoever claims the victory, the spoils will come out of the taxpayers pockets.

The public will be forgiven then, if they find it difficult to decide for whom they should cheer.

A step taken in the right direction

A controversial Minden recreation committee decision to allow rock concerts at the Minden arena this year has been vindicated. Sunday night, the first concert of the season was held, and according to the commander of the Minden OPP detachment, the young people who turned up were generally well behaved. Their actions have done more than prove that the recreation committee was right to take a chance on the concerts for another year however. By obeying the law and avoiding conflict with police, and by respecting public property, the rock fans who attended Sunday's concert have guaranteed themselves a chance to enjoy future concerts in Minden.

Whether or not a full slate of concerts can be held will depend on the cooperation of everyone involved, including the taxpayers of Anson, Hindon and Minden. So long as there are no incidents such as the one which marred the second last concert last year, in which two police cruisers were damaged by bottles hurled from an unruly crowd, the concerts seem certain to continue. And so long as police are not harassed and public property is not damaged, there is no reason to believe that they should not be held.

The recreation committee appears to have been successful in convincing the promoter to make changes in organizing the concerts to minimize the risk of trouble. If the next concert proves to be as orderly as the first, a segment of the community's young people need not be deprived of the entertainment they enjoy.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Re: James White family of Gooderham, Ontario. We are needing information on this family as we want to make a family history book.

We would like to know where James and Francis (Henrietta) White were raised and when they came to Gooderham.

Would the relatives or anyone who knew the following families please write to me? I would appreciate hearing from any of them: Sy, Will and Sid White, Mrs. Pheobe Coons and Mrs. Emma Braiden of Lindsay, Ontario.

We have been to Gooderham, Ontario several times and would be happy to call on the relatives if we knew where they lived.

If anyone knew where the great grandparents John and Charity White, lived before moving to the Haliburton County, I would appreciate hearing from them.

The James White family moved to Ribstone, Alberta in April 1917.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Eva M. [White] Stalker,

To the Editor:

Here is a story that you may be interested in publishing. Several weeks ago, Mr. Hodgson was approached by a local representative of Amnesty International, a very powerful global organization for world peace, to have the school children write to the Iranian Embassy in Ottawa, to ask for the release of the United States' hostages in Iran.

Mr. Hodgson, in turn, contacted various schools in the county asking that we carry out this request.

Below you will find a sampling of the letters that the children wrote from the Cardiff Elementary School. Mrs. Ethel Ryan and I, felt that the children had done a wonderful job in their writing. We were not very pleased with the content of the reply.

Yours truly,
Brian D. Dean

Your Excellency:

I am in Grade 4. I think you should do something about the people that are being held hostage in Iran.

They have not done any harm to anything or anyone. They would probably like to go home to their families.

Greg McCormick, Grade 4

Your Excellency:

Would you people try to get the hostages back to the United States without them being killed? I think they would like to see their families again. I think they should be able to get to the United States.

Please try to get them home safely and peacefully.

Beverly Covert, Grade 4

Your Excellency:

I feel that the hostages should be released and sent back to the United States.

This should be done peacefully. This is where, I feel, they belong.

Kay Holbrook, Grade 4

Your Excellency:

I am a Grade 4 student at the Cardiff Elementary School. Why should the United States' Embassy be taken over by the Iranian people?

Can you set these hostages free? Why should the people take hostages for nothing? Why can't they come home peacefully to see their families?

Dale Palmer, Grade 4

Your Excellency:

I think that you should let the hostages go, please, because they didn't do anything wrong. I feel sorry for them.

I do not think it is fun to be a hostage. They can't talk, read what you want to or go outside. You can't go home to see your children.

If you kill them, you will go to the Devil and then you will be a hostage. The Devil will not be nice to you.

So please let them go.

Marc Poirer, Grade 4

Your Excellency:

Nobody seems to realize what may happen if these peoples' lives are lost.

I realize what the people are going through. This world was to be one of peace. Why can't it be that way? Please look at the peoples' lives. They need life just the same as you. They need to care for their families. I think that the students don't realize this.

They are doing wrong. These people need to be brought back safely and alive.

These students have no right to do this. It is the Shah who has done wrong, not the hostages.

Thank you for reading what I think to be very important.

Susan Hanna, Grade 5

Your Excellency:

I, as a citizen of Canada, ask you to speed up the release of the hostages.

It is the Shah's fault that all those people were killed, not the hostages.

Danny Palmer, Grade 6

Your Excellency:

Please, will you let the hostages go, if you can? Their families are very unhappy.

Please give them a call or go over and see if they can get away from all of the confusion. Then you will not have a national war.

Joel Robinson, Grade 6

Your Excellency:

I don't like this at all. I don't want people killed. Why should they be killed? They have done nothing wrong. They need their families. They

The Victoria Holiday weekend has come and gone and as far as we are concerned it was one of the biggest weekends we have seen here in the Highlands of Haliburton for some time now. If the economy is as bad as some people would lead us to believe it is, one would never know it by the large amount of business done by county business people over the weekend. But on the other hand, we don't want to get fooled and stack our hopes and future on one weekend along. To really face up to reality the stories we have been getting from a big percentage of county business people is that the month of April was down from other years and they are keeping their fingers crossed until their totals come in at the end of May. The weekend afforded me with the opportunity to meet and have a chat with many cottagers whom I have had the privilege to meet and get to know on a personal basis during the past several years. I really enjoy meeting these people and I wish them many days of sunshine and warm weather in the summer the lies ahead. May you continue to feel right at home with us.

Fitness Now! This is what they keep telling us on the radio, TV and in the newspapers. These advertisements keep reminding us all that now is the time to start to get some exercise that will put us back in shape, make us feel better and possibly live longer. As Howie Meeker would say, "Walk a block a day, it's a beginning." As far as I am personally concerned, I try to get my exercise by doing a lot of walking, playing some tennis and believe it or not, a little bit of jogging. I am really envious of these men and women whom you see out jogging every day of the week and some of them tell me that they do a mile a day while some of the local doctors can do five miles a day. You can't tell me that it doesn't pay health-wise to jog. I think that those people who tell you that too much jogging is bad for you are just jealous of those who jog on a regular basis. I am far from being an expert on this matter but it would appear to me that before one starts on a jogging program that they should consult with their family doctor and have a check-up to make sure that they are in good enough health and won't overdo it. It seems to me that most of us are faced with a weight problem and although we may cut down on our food consumption that we should be getting as much exercise as we can to help get our waistline back in shape. The next time that you are going downtown, forget about the car or pickup and walk or jog on down.

We have just been informed that a meeting is being called at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School on Thursday, May 22 at 7 p.m. for the purpose of forming a minor softball house league for Haliburton and area. All interested parents and children are asked to attend.

We have to agree that it's just about time that Haliburton and Minden started to get serious about hiring a recreation director. We seem to be able to dig up money for everything else so what's a few bucks here or there if our young people are going to get more recreation and sports. It would appear to me that we have all these facilities going for us but no one in the position to coordinate the people who might want to participate. A recreation director could oversee hockey, softball, soccer, tennis, squash, badminton, track and field and we could go on and on. If a recreation director is hired this doesn't mean that everyone else can go home and go to bed. People will still be needed to help but a director will see that the operation of each and every sport is running in a smooth manner. Every kid doesn't necessarily want to play hockey so he should have the opportunity to take part in some other organized sport. It would seem at the present time that we are doing everything possible for our senior citizens but we are forgetting all about our young people. We seem to be having a great deal of trouble getting our sports organizations functioning in a proper manner. The answer lies in the hiring of a recreation director.

Many sports fans will tell you that the players who make their living playing hockey in the National Hockey League should be able to tolerate anything with the money they are making. This may be true but on the other hand it's a very hazardous occupation, with long hours, away from home for most of the time and one never knows when a player may be traded from one city to the other in a minute's notice. It also seems ridiculous to me that players have to be forced into playing from early September of one year to the end of May in the next year. We are told that if the players keep demanding these high wages that the owners must have more games if they are going to pick up the tab. I am what you might call a rabid hockey fan but to tell you the truth, the season is just too long and once the finals arrive I find myself at the point of losing interest. Of course, it doesn't seem to matter just how long the hockey season may be when it comes to sudden death overtime. This always draws everyone's attention like in the very first game of the finals when the game went into this overtime and Dennis Potvin scored the winner to give the New York Islanders a big first game win.

I think that you have to agree that the warm weather that we usually get through the month of May is not exactly the type of weather that is great for hockey.

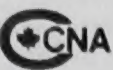

If you haven't already made your donation to the Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal please do so today. The local campaign has fallen away behind and your money is needed right away.

I certainly enjoy meeting old friends. One day last week I had the opportunity to renew old acquaintances with a brother and sister team Evelyn Hosgood of Burnaby, B.C. and Jack Austin of Battlecreek, Michigan. They are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Austin in Haliburton.

Once again I am making an appeal to the readers of The Echo. If you have any old photos which we can use in our Pic of the Past I would only be too glad to borrow them from you. Please submit as much information as you can along with the photo.

need their homes. I wouldn't like to be away from my family for over a hundred days.

I believe that the Iranian students do not have the right to hold these people hostage. If they wanted the Shah that badly, they could have gotten together all their people and captured him in Mexico.

So, please use all of your power so that they can be released.

Sandra Hutton, Grade 6.

Your Excellency:

It has come to me that many innocent people are being held because of something they did not do. These people should not be held because they are not going to do the Iranians any good.

If you were in the Americans' place, you would not like it. These people are kept away from civilization and their families.

Please, let these people go and save their lives and those of the Iranians also.

Shelley Hughey, Grade 6

Your Excellency:

Some of the militants who are holding the hostages have families, just like the people who are being held. You have a family. You wouldn't want them to take your family, would you?

I want you to let them go. It's the Shah's fault anyway.

Keri-Anne McGrath, Grade 5

Your Excellency:

I am asking you to let the Americans go, because their lives are being used by the Iranian students so that they can have their own way.

Sure, the Shah did bad stuff, but they shouldn't take it out on the Americans. Even if they helped him, so, why shouldn't they. He's human, too.

I am asking you to let the Americans go or at least, try to, because they are probably sick of the place they are trapped in.

John Lockwood, Grade 5

Your Excellency:

You are aware that some of your people are holding our people hostage in the Embassy in Iran. I cannot see why you haven't done something about this. It would make me very happy if you did something to help them get free. They haven't seen their families in such a long time.

How would you like to be a hostage and not see your family? You wouldn't like it at all.

So would you please help the hostages and get them home safely?

Blaine McCormick, Grade 6

Editor's note:

In reply to the Cardiff students' letters, the Iranian Embassy in Ottawa sent back two photocopied statements. One, five pages in length, and full of the rhetoric of the revolution, outlines its history from an Iranian perspective. It carries no signature. The second document, three pages in length, is a form letter, complete with "Dear..." at several points in the text. The blank space which might have personalized the letter to the Cardiff students, has not been filled in. The form letter is here reproduced in full.

Dear

I wonder when the time will come for you and other sisters and brothers in N. America to reject the lies and distorted news which are being injected to you just to draw your attention to the points they want and to serve the devilish goals of a few men who control your entire mass media and your wealth.

Dear we have never said such a thing. We are fully determined to return the bodies of those poor Americans who were supposed to attack the Iranians and kill them.

I'm sure if you were exposed to both the sides of the story, you would agree with us.

As soon as the U.S. military aggression of Iran failed, the controlled and censored U.S. media started to distort the truth in order to regain the lost prestige of the President and his gang. So they began calling it "Rescue Mission" while it was a military aggression and it was intended to overthrow our popular revolutionary government. It was extensive cruel attempt to make a coup and install another murderous puppet. Furthermore they intended to bomb Tehran, the capital city of Iran and kill as many people as they could. Why does not the media report that? Why don't they expose the other side of the story, and why don't they report our views?

The most dangerous point is that had the military aggression succeeded to reach Tehran to discharge their bombs, gas, and bullets the whole Middle-East region would have blown up and likely the Third World War would have started and millions of people would have been killed.

Why?

Because Mr. Carter still desires to protect one criminal and prefers to have the shah than millions of people.

The world public opinion as well as some North American people reacted to this dangerous and cruel U.S. aggression in Iran positively and condemned Mr. Carter and his administration. Carter showed his real self, specially his re-election fell in grave danger, therefore he is desperately struggling to regain face by switching brutality to humanitarian points.

When you see the bodies of those poor Americans who were cheated by Carter, what's your first and immediate reaction? You will certainly ask, "How cruel and inhuman is the man who caused their deaths, who caused the killing of these people, why did Carter kill them and he should not have made that cruel decision that caused their deaths."

The censored media of N. America started fabricating stories of the dead bodies to distract their attention from the harsh realities of the situation. We have repeatedly indicated that we shall hand them over to their families and not to Mr. Carter because no one can be sure that he delivers them to their families. He may make another plot and take advantage and for instance destroy them and blame the Iranians for that, just to win the hearts and sympathy of the people.

However, you have to look into this problem and the whole situation in a broader context. It is a conflict of interests created by Mr. Carter. He allowed the most horrible criminal of the 20th century inside the U.S.A. in spite of the fact that he was advised not to do so. It is a conflict between a cruel super power and an impoverished nation that has the will and determination to struggle for its independence and freedom.

We can never forget the 27 years of U.S. domination of Iran which resulted in massacres, tortures, corruption and brutality. Even after our revolution, they did not leave us alone to build our own country. They keep interfering in our internal affairs.

The U.S. media claims that there are conflicts and riots and revels in Iran, while it is their agents who are making the trouble. They do so to portray a bad image of our revolution.

We firmly believe in our way of freedom and independence and we are sure that the history is in our favour and as the time passes the truth prevails.

Report from Parliament

by MP Bill Scott

Three months after the Liberal government was returned to power in Ottawa we are still waiting for some sign as to what the government plans in the way of assistance to small businesses in our country.

As I have said over and over again, during the past few years, the importance of small businesses in Canada cannot be over-stated.

It has been estimated that small businesses provide more than 60 percent of all jobs held by Canadians, and a proportionate amount of purchasing power and taxes for all levels of government.

In spite of this dominant position in our economy, small businesses are the most vulnerable and least protected link in the national economic chain.

In 1979, for instance, there were more than 7,500 small business failures. In 1978 there were more than 6,000, and in 1977 there were more than 5,000 failures of small businesses.

What this means is, in clear and frightening statistics, that failures in the small business community are increasing at a rate of more than 20 percent per year.

What we should have in Canada today is a decrease in business failures, and an increase in start-ups of new businesses. This can be accomplished, but if the present process is to be reversed, the federal government will have to re-assess its priorities.

Industry, Trade and Commerce Minister Herb Gray has had a fixation for years about what he calls his "buy back Canada" policy, and now that he is in the federal cabinet again he is pushing his policy for all it's worth.

Gray is also concentrating on taxing healthy corporations to bail out ailing companies in Canada, and while the philosophy might be commendable, like his buy-back-Canada policy, there can be serious consequences for our country if they are not pursued in the context of our free-enterprise economy.

Gray wants to buy up foreign-owned companies and subsidiaries in Canada with tax monies. That would be wasteful and inefficient. What I would rather see is a Canadian industrial community that is healthy enough to buy up outstanding shares of foreign-owned companies on the open market. This policy would enhance rather than diminish our free enterprise economy.

Gray must exercise extreme care in bailing out ailing industries with tax monies collected from healthy corporations. Imposing burdensome and crippling taxes on healthy industries will only serve to create a new crop of ailing companies, and the vicious circle will be perpetuated.

What Herb Gray should be concentrating on right now is policies that would assist small businesses to survive high interest rates on capital, sudden shifts in market conditions, and other

What are you going to do if the voters of Quebec say, "wee-wee-wee" all the way home?

Are you going to pack everything into a covered wagon and head west, the only refuge any more for Anglo-phones?

Are you going to grow a beard, obtain some false papers, and slip across the Quebec border some dark night, to fight in the underground?

Or are you going to sit on your duff, go right on trying to take care of your own life, and let the politicians sort out the whole sordid scene?

I would venture that 93 percent of English-speaking Canadians will choose the third of the above alternatives.

Certainly I will. I have not intention of fleeing into the right-wing arms of Alberta, or the moderately left-wing arms of Saskatchewan, or the materialistic arms of B.C. or Ontario, or the salty, slow embrace of the Maritimes. Or even the hearty bear-hug of the Yukon.

I'm gonna stay home and cultivate my own garden. It may be all weeds, but that doesn't give me the right to point in scorn to the wrecked cars and dirty gravel that make up my neighbour's yard.

You may have noticed that I have not addressed myself to the topic of Quebec separation in the past couple of years, except for my opening salvo, which said, more or less, "Let them go...no big deal."

I cited historical parallels: Britain backing gracefully out of India, Ceylon, Burma, and a dozen others; the French being badly burned in the Indo-China and North Africa, when they tried to hold on by force; the Americans trying to fight ideas with napalm and bombs in an ill-conceived and ill-fated war in Viet Nam.

And I still feel the same way. If a majority of the people of Quebec think they would be happy if they kissed the rest of the family goodbye, then let's return the kiss, throw in a hug, and let them go. No names. No recriminations. Just a gentle severing of the ties, which, after all, are only a little over a hundred years old, a mere fly-speck in the history books.

There's been a great deal of bewilderment and belated sentimentality over the possibility, among English-speaking Canadians. There's been a lot of sloppy soul-searching that resembles nothing so much as a rotten mother whining, after her kids turn rotten, "What have I done? I always meant the best for them."

"What do they want?" Why do they want out? Are the pitiful cries of the complacent Anglo majority.

I know why they want out, or many of them do. They have managed to retain their pride of race under two hundred years of subservience and second-class citizenship.

Why did the Irish want out of the British Empire? Why did the Indo-Chinese want out from under the benevolent rule of France? Why did the Philippines, and now the Canal Zone, want to kick out the Yanks?

Yep. Many, many French-Canadians volunteered and served loyally and gallantly, in World War II. Know what they were called, almost invariably? Frenchy! With condescension.

I was at a "bilingual" newspaper convention a couple of decades ago, in Quebec. The announcements were made first in English. Then, when they were repeated in French, the all mainly English-speaking editors were all babbling away, drowning out the French. This is the sort of thing that creates fury among proud people.

Quebec is one of the most vibrant and lively societies in the western world. Its residents have kicked out the iron paternalism of the church, exposed and scorned its corrupt politicians. It has produced more in art and music and writing, proportionately, than all the rest of Canada, in the past decades.

It has also sent wise men, and a few fools, to Ottawa. Rene Levesque is no Idi Amin, a buffoon leading clowns. The province has vast national resources. Its leaders are no jumped-up, parochial politicians, but intelligent, far-seeing, opportunistic maybe, but tough, practical men and women. You can't toss all that aside with a few sentimental platitudes about one-country.

On the other hand, many, many Quebecois don't want to leave the family. I'm more worried about Quebec being torn in two than about Canada breaking asunder.

Two years ago, on a bus tour, in France, a lady from Montreal who spoke little English, told me vehemently,

You have plans. We have plans to help.

When you're looking for individual life insurance, group life and health insurance, annuities, registered retirement savings plans or estate planning, look at what we have to offer.

Haliburton takes 'A' championship at Trent

On Wednesday, May 14 at Trent University, the H.H.S.S. track and field team successfully defended their "A" school championship and retained the Paul Pearson Trophy for the second straight year with a total of 164 points. Their nearest "A" rival was Trinity College School with 109 points. The team finished seventh overall out of the 19 competing schools in the Kawartha meet, and the junior boys were first with 65 points.

The following competitors qualified for the C.O.S.S.A. meet to be held at Trent, Thursday, May 22: Midget girls - Signe Tashlin - 1st, long jump, 3rd - 400 M.; Marla MacNaull - 3rd, 800 M.

4th, long jump. Junior girls - Margie Newton - 3rd, high jump. Senior girls - Helene Hellquist - 2nd, 1500 M, 4th, 800 M.; Carol Lee - 3rd, discus; Sandra Kieckhefer - 4th, shot put; Darlene Barnhart - 4th, javelin; Open girls 1600 M. relay - 3rd, Helene Hellquist, Signe Tashlin, Marla MacNaull, Margie Newton. Junior boys - Mike Hatoski - 1st, pole vault, 1st, javelin; Butch Manary - 1st, discus, 3rd, shot put; Tony Scheffee - 1st, 400 M Hurdles (record); Sean Harrison - 3rd, 400 M. hurdles; Paul Madden - 4th, 3000 M.; Terry Allure - 4th, discus. Senior boys - Mike Iles - 2nd, 110 M. Hurdles; Kevin Newell - 2nd, 400 M. hurdles, 4th, 110 M. hurdles; Tim Davies - 4th, pole vault.

Ladies ball games start off season

Haliburton ladies softball got off the ground last Monday night as three matches were scheduled around the county.

Minden Jrs. came up with an easy win as the Gooderham team defaulted by not showing up for their game. This constitutes a win, according to the executive.

Snowdon had some bad luck as the team's pitcher was hit with a ball in the middle of a game against last year's champs, West Guilford. Debbie Swanton was taken to hospital after trying to catch a line drive which bounced out of her glove hitting her in the face.

She did not receive any serious injuries. West Guilford won the match 22 - 5.

Haliburton also took a loss as Carnarvon beat the home team 11 - 7 in their first match.

Scheduled to meet for games on Tuesday night were Wilberforce and Minden Jrs., Snowdon and West Guilford, Minden Srs. and Haliburton and Carnarvon and Snowdon Srs. Reports on those games will be available next week.

Minden area to form the first racquet sports club

Minden area residents interested in racquet sports may soon have a club to bring them together.

Dr. Jeffrey Lodenquai said last week that he hopes to form a club for tennis, badminton, and sports that may be new to many people, table tennis or ping pong.

Tennis is available at local courts, and badminton has been offered at Archie Stouffer School on Monday and Thursday nights for the last three years. But Dr. Lodenquai said he hopes that formation of a club will result in additional recreational opportunities for all racquet sport players.

Opinion

MNR shouldn't allow hunting in park

by Ron Reid

Should sport hunting be allowed in provincial parks? The Ministry of Natural Resources is once again grappling with this controversial issue, but a resolution satisfactory to everyone seems likely.

At present, hunting is legally allowed in only nine provincial parks, under the authority of special regulations under the Game and Fish Act. But until this year, the Ministry had turned a blind eye to hunting in many other parks, and in some cases had actively encouraged it. When the Minister was confronted with evidence that this illegal activity was regularly occurring with the full knowledge of his local staff, he had little choice but to order it stopped.

After a province-wide investigation, the Ministry has now admitted that hunting without the necessary regulations had in fact been occurring in thirty-eight provincial parks. Under strong pressure from the provincial Wildlife Branch, who maintains that hunting is now a "traditional use" in these parks, the Ministry had intended to quietly pass regulations on twenty of the areas this fall, without any kind of public discussion. When word leaked out, however, the Ministry began to receive such a flood of outraged mail that the regulations have been temporarily stalled.

For some animal-lovers, the whole idea of hunting is objectionable, since it involves killing for sport. But for other groups like the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, the issue relates more to the purpose of parks than to the ethics of hunting. Provincial parks are supposed to be sanctuaries, areas where nature is protected from changes by man and where natural ecosystems are allowed to remain as enclaves. Where recreation occurs, it is controlled so that the ecosystem is protected - you can't pick the flowers, for

Log builders handcraft houses the modern way

by Sue Cooper

As people become more and more interested in saving a few dollars on their heating bills, the pioneer art of log building should pick up momentum.

One of the realistic facts of log building, according to builder Steve Watt, is that the 'R' factor or insulation value of logs increases as the temperature outside gets colder. A 12-inch white four-month stint at the Allan Mackie School of Log Building.

"I just learned the basics at the course. You learn the most when you're building," he said.

Watt has now started a construction site where the log homes will be built and then dismantled and moved to their permanent site for re-construction. Because the logs are scribed to fit perfectly together they can easily be moved with no damage to the house.

He said this prevents the house's actual lot from home owner desires.

"You don't have to be a farmer with goats and chickens to have a log house," Watt says.

He pointed out that the electrical wiring is installed through vertical drill holes in the walls that are completely concealed and safe. The logs are more fireproof than a frame house because of the mass of the logs as compared to the studding and wall coverings which burn quickly in a frame house.

"It's like throwing a whole log or some kindling into a fire," he explained.

Watt figures he and the three men who work with him (all have taken the log course in B.C.) can complete a log a day each. The painstaking hand work is time-consuming and requires patience.

In the Scandinavian style home, the next log to be fitted into place on the wall is lifted up to the appropriate height with a crane and held in place until the contours of the log below it are scribed on to the top log. Usually the notches at the end are notched out in rough to allow the logs to be as close together as possible for accurate scribing.

Scribing transfers the contours of the bottom log onto the surface of the top log to assure a close fit.

When the log is lowered down to the ground, a shallow groove is scooped from between the scribing lines with a scoop adze. The idea is to make the groove as shallow as possible because if a large V-cut is made in the log it would probably check the log. Or if it was extremely deep the groove could actually cause a log to split in two, Watt explained.

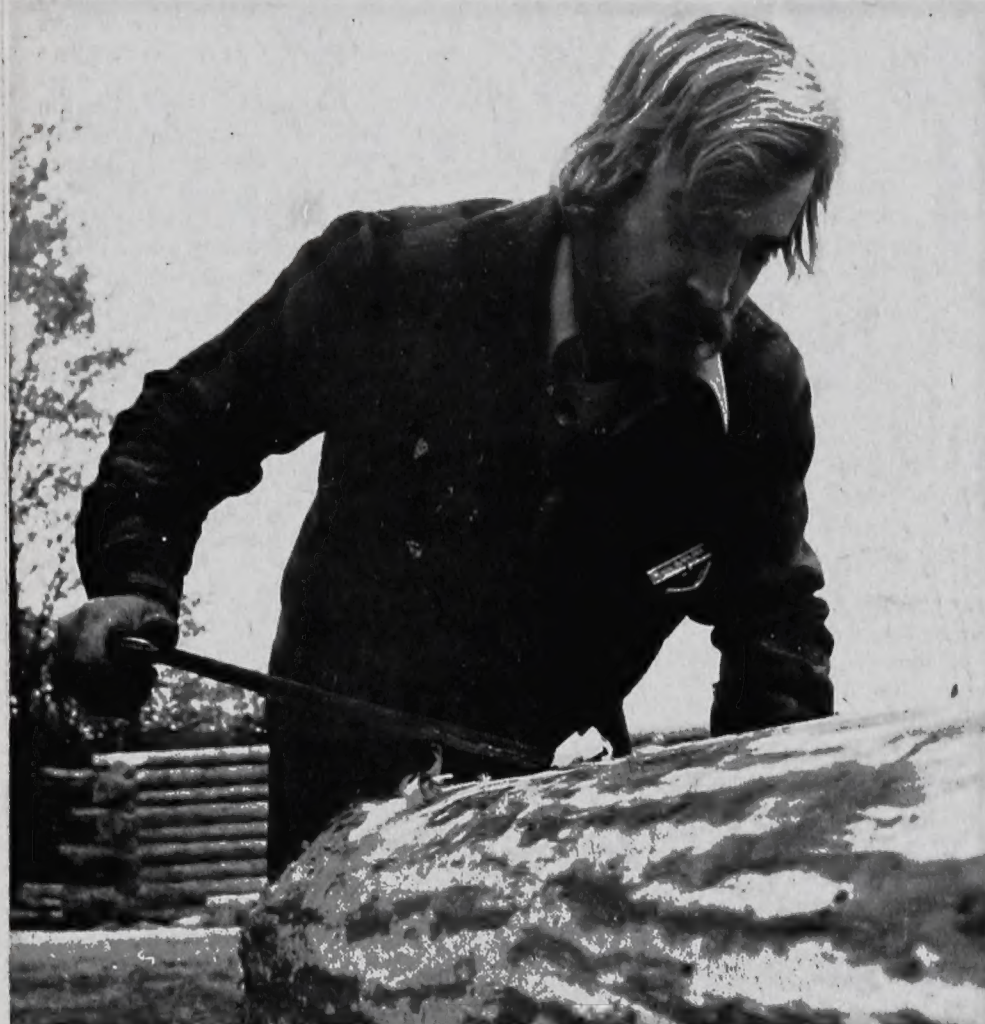

When the final touches are put on the groove with a paring axe, it will fit perfectly on top of the log with no need for nails or pegs. The next step is to precision cut the notches so they will fit tightly at the corners.

Watt has added a little modern technology to the Scandinavian style by shaving the shoulders of the notch and making it more wedge-shaped instead of round to insure that when the logs settle and shrink slightly in time, they will still fit together properly with no air spaces.

All of the logs are carefully treated with a fungicide and insecticide to prevent them from decaying or being damaged by insects. They are then coated with an oil to keep their natural color. This also seals in the chemicals as an added precaution.

When the log home is finally completed the new owner will have the aesthetic value of a pioneer log home along with the advanced technology of today's houses.

"It's like throwing a whole log or some into the fire"

Steve Watt peels the bark off a pine log pine log has an R24 value in the winter as the heat does not escape through the narrowest part of the log. It must first travel to the core of the wood and then out the other side of the wood, which naturally increases the insulation value.

As an example, Watt said a one and a half storey house he constructed last year was heated with a medium sized wood stove in last winter's cold snap even though the owner had not yet installed glass in some of the plastic covered windows. The house was more than comfortable.

As well as being warm and cosy in the winter time, a log house has an unusual quality of keeping its owners cool in the summertime.

But, according to Watt it is the characteristics of the logs a builder chooses that will make or break a house.

"Get the straightest trees you can... if you have to pay more for them, they're worth it," he says. Uniform sized logs with a minimum of a 10-inch top and preferably red or white pine are excellent.

Watt became interested in log building after enrolling in a short course in Ottawa in 1976. He then travelled to Prince George, B.C. in 1978 for a being littered with log shavings, chips and bark. Only the necessary finishing work will be done at the house site.

Presently, Watt and his team of builders are hand crafting a Scandinavian full scribe house but they are also involved in building piece en piece and dovetail homes.

An interesting aspect of today's log homes is that pioneer ways are used but with the added advantage of today's technology.

The builders use a chainsaw for some of the rough work that will be finished with hand tools and some also make use of tools such as precision scribes which were not available to the pioneers.

Although modern tools can be obtained for log building Watt buys most of his at a store in Brooklyn which specializes in antique tools. He says they seem to be better quality than the tools a builder can pick up today.

And contrary to popular belief, a log home can be made complete with all the modern facilities the

Rare Earth starts work

Preliminary study will cost $400,000

by Sue Cooper

Preliminary work has once again begun at the Halo #1 uranium mine in Cardiff Township. Rare Earth Resources has received an exploration and development permit from the Atomic Energy Control Board to begin its research to discover if it is viable to reopen the mines.

Last Friday, employees of Aurora Quarrying Ltd. who have secured the contract for the underground work at the mine site, were busy installing a ventilation system for the mine.

George Jeffs, project manager, Leon LaPrairie, company managing director, and George Marshall from Aurora quarrying, made a quick tour of the mine site.

This preliminary study, costing approximately $400,000, should be completed within six to eight weeks according to Jeffs.

The company is planning to take between 200 and 300 tons of ore to the Lakefield Research Laboratories to have metallurgical testing done. Rare Earth will also be sending a 10-ton sampler to the Ore Sorter (Canada) Ltd. in Peterborough for sorting.

In the past the ore at the Halo #1 site has been graded at 1.70 lb. U308 for the 36,000 tons estimated to be above the adit level and 85,000 tons grading 1.60 lb. to the 170 feet below the adit.

"This is a touch and go operation because of the grade of the ore," LaPrairie said. He explained the mine was in a good location because of the accessibility to the highway.

Ventilation is first on the agenda of the work to be done at the mine because it is highly important for miners' safety, according to Jeffs. He said when the rock is blasted with dynamite, radon gas escapes and could be dangerous if the air in the mine is not circulating.

The ventilation system draws air into the adit which is at ground level and the fresh air travels along until it meets with the raise going up to the surface and it continues to circulate constantly.

The next step will be to wash down the rock walls in the mine to make it easier to examine their surfaces.

After a new raise has been blasted, the samplings will be taken to the laboratory in Lakefield for testing.

On Friday both the portal and the raise opening had been opened already to allow for natural ventilation and LaPrairie was hopeful the air inside the mine was not dangerously contaminated because of its long closure.

"When we opened the portal some bats flew out which is a good sign." He explained that bats and canaries are sometimes taken into mines to test the air.

Rare Earth staff have also been kept busy monitoring the radon levels in the water draining from the old mine adit.

Jeffs said monthly readings had been taken at the two adits, at the nearby lake and also at a beaver pond but none of the levels have been excessively high. He added that the Ministry of the Environment have also been conducting tests on the water.

This is just one of the regulations of Ontario's uranium policy that the mine will have to comply with, LaPrairie said.

Jeffs explained that the company will be mining pegmatites which are an erratic rock form that sometimes contain ore.

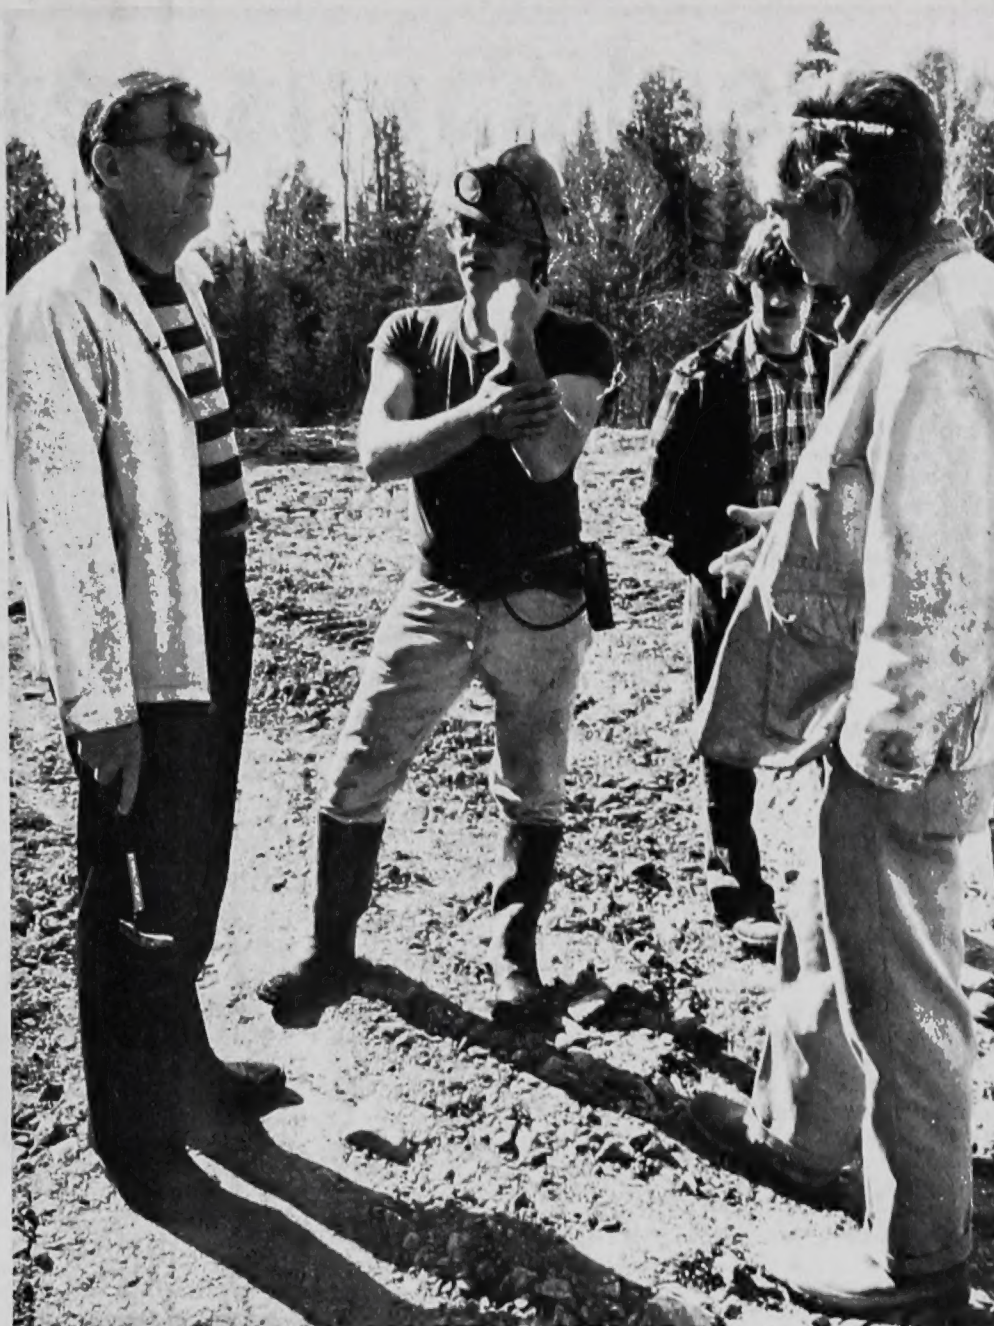

"It's quite different from mining ore in veins... the name of the game is uncertainty," he said.

Because the ore is located in the erratic pegmatites Jeffs says the tonnage is quite difficult to estimate or measure.

As plans now stand Rare Earth will be trucking about 3,000 tons of ore to the Madawaska Mines mill, near Bancroft, to be custom treated, LaPrairie said.

Before Rare Earth can bring any of the mine sites in Cardiff and Monmouth into production, a detailed environmental impact study must be completed. Public hearings will then be held before a permit to mine the ore can be granted. Even if the ore samples presently being taken from the mines indicate that full scale production is economically viable, it will be 1981 at least before production could begin.

The project is being financed by Esso Minerals Canada (80 percent) and 10 percent each by New York Oils and Dickinson Mines.

Report from Parliament

factors that they cannot control, and to assist start-ups of new businesses.

It is inevitable that there will be failures in the small business community, for a number of reasons. Some businesses are under-capitalized or over-capitalized, and when this is combined with a lack of business acumen or experience, failures can occur. Failures can be forced upon anyone by changes in market conditions, or lack of public demand for a product.

While failures are inevitable, the overall effect on the economy can and should be minimized by government programs and policies that will enable other businesses to expand, and for new businesses to be started up.

There must be a federal business development agency similar to the Ontario Development Corporation, and for maximum benefit the federal and provincial programs must be coordinated and complimentary to each other. A fund to provide capital assistance to small businesses, at reasonable rates of interest, must be established and maintained, and here again this could be made more effective if it is a joint federal/provincial effort.

The present government in Ottawa says that it plans to implement the Small Business Development Bond program initiated by the Progressive Conservative government last year. That would be a step in the right direction.

Graham receives weather award

A Minden man has received one of the highest awards for volunteer weather observers.

Philip M. Graham was among seven individuals and groups to be honoured with the award of merit presented for at least 20 years of satisfactory service.

In announcing the awards, G.A. McPherson, regional director of the atmospheric environment service of Environment Canada, expressed appreciation to the volunteers who, in pursuit of a hobby or as part of their work, devote some time every day to observing the weather.

Philip Graham will receive inscribed weather instruments, as well as a certificate for the Award of Merit.

There are currently 350 voluntary climatological observers in the Ontario region who take daily readings of temperature extremes and precipitation amounts. These records are forwarded to the regional headquarters in Toronto at the end of the month for publication. The data from these observations form the basis of climatological studies which are used in support of commerce, industry and agriculture throughout Ontario.

Hunting in parks

example. Logging, mining and hunting all conflict with that ideal of a completely natural ecosystem, because they all remove some part of the natural chain of life.

Naturalists point out that parks cover only 3% of Ontario's area, and that restriction of hunters from these few sanctuary areas is hardly a hardship. While hunting is occurring, the safety and enjoyment of other users such as hikers and birdwatchers is in danger. For whatever reasons, the few public opinion surveys that have been done show that most park users disagree strongly with allowing hunters within provincial park bounds.

In any case, this controversial question is too important to be decided in secret by civil servants, or to be resolved for each individual park according to local pressures. The best possible answer might be an independent, statistically-sound survey of the opinions of Ontarians as a whole, to determine the will of the majority. Once that will is decided, the provincial government then should move quickly to ensure that its park management policies fall in line.

In a family, some are willing to see one go. "He's a bum, a drunk. She's a trollop, a tramp." But at the least sign of reform or a change of heart or habits, the outsider is welcomed back, smothered with kisses. So may it be this time.

Consent application #H-79/80 was approved, owner, Apsley Supply Centre Lot 32, Plan 465.

Council decided it is not in favour of the proposed dam on Lot 30, Concession 22 due to possible damages to township roads and request that Natural Resources consider this opinion.

Council supported the position and actions of a special meeting of reeves and councillors held, regarding withdrawal from the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority; and further the township accepted Bob Pakenham as solicitor to act on its behalf, and will contribute $500. for legal fees, in trust to the law firm.

The following accounts were approved for payment: roads voucher #80-4, $20,756.84 and general voucher #80-4, $8,593.97.

The next regular meeting of the council was set for June 5, at 7:00 p.m.

COUNTY ECHO FAMILY

Extendicare News

by Dr. W.O. Anderson

This was quite a beehive Monday morning when the Haliburton workshop personnel turned out to busy themselves removing every bit of the old finish from our lawn furniture in preparation for refinishing with that new almost permanent finish that is offered for sale under various names. It is hard, tedious work and these boys from the shop deserve much credit. They are supervised by Murray McColl.

Inside the ladies were putting together another quilt - Hazel Parish, Maude Weston, Flossie Burk directed by Amelia Sibley and Lillian Hague. They do a lot of work each session for the benefit of the Happy Gang.

Ontario Hydro is at it again poisoning the land of which they are only trustees, with 24D, like Uncle Sam did in Viet Nam. Not one of the Ontario legislature knows any better except that it is very dangerous. The unemployed could be put to work because idleness by too many people over a lengthy period is not healthy and as the saying goes, the devil will find something for them. Perhaps it is true after all, that there is a deadly aura of microwave that surrounds each ultra high tension wire, that is dangerous to work near, or graze under.

Tuesday morning June Devolin conducted Bible study with a good turnout. No one misses these sessions without a reason. This was a repeat topic of David and Goliath. David was one of those boys who were in no way pampered while growing up which gave him the stamina for his job, tending his father's sheep which in those days involved close combat with many predators, so when he met Goliath, David was far from being a weakling and he had God's promise on his side, the best defence of all.

In the afternoon the ladies - Lila Simmons, Finny Jenkins, Hazel Parish, Christina McCrae, Lottie Woodcock and Elizabeth McIntosh, all in the guidance of Pat Burk, did the baking. All in all there was a prize orange cake, date loaves, and English tea cakes. There must be some party up ahead a bit that they are not telling us about.

No plowing has been done for our muskmelon bed although we have the 40 hills ready to pop in after June 1. After that is done we lay 30 metres of soaker lawn hose, to and fro on each side just in case, then on the gravelly end, 2 to 3 inches of compost manure, maybe after that two inches of seasoned sawdust, then we put down the black plastic to be left undisturbed except to pick the fruit until frost break-up. If any reader sees something wrong in those plans we would appreciate a telephone call at 457-1722.

We omitted reporting two lovely plants that were donated, one a gorgeous gloxinia to Vivia Bowen for Mother's Day, the other a hydrangea with cluster heads as big as human and a mass of floral components to the "Happy Gang mother's". Vivia's was from her family but no donor card was attached to the hydrangea. Vivia left hers to the Happy Gang to our discretion so both are in the lounge planter, which has made it a superlative attraction. Thanks everyone.

We have Finny Jenkins, the illustrious mother of Ray Jenkins, here as a day care resident. Any mother having a son as talented as Ray is illustrious.

There was more baking Wednesday afternoon by the ladies, a splendid turnout to make two prize cakes, one each of date and orange, two carrot cake or bread, and a slew of English tea muffins. Thanks to Maude Weston, Vera Griffin, Finny Jenkins, Lila Simmons, Hazel Parish, Christina McCrae, Elizabeth McIntosh, Lottie Woodcock and Myrtle Millburn. The men simply looked on.

Thursday night we attended "fun night" at the H.H.S.S., the night for capers and being a retired physician we decided to make comments from the physician's viewpoint, who learned and reasoned the development of each human from mote size to his or her present achievement. That mote, to describe exhausts all superlatives in perfection and excellence, is called a conception and is simply a biochemical entity, a little larger than a microbe and contains in some way all of the "blue prints" for development into extreme old age. Just think of that exquisite biochemistry in a fluid medium with approximately the same composition as sea water. That mote was derived by the chemical union of two parents, each of which being a symbiosis contribute a certain symbiotic quality. The mother as a symbiotic host contributes as well security, warmth and nutrition. As physicians we look with uncomprehending awe and reverence, of that supreme biochemist of the universe, on this phenomenon of the human entity and of all living things.

The boys scouts with their cub leader Stella Henderson stole the show. Bill Gliddon's school choir were good but featuring "Ontario" made them special. It was nice to have it confirmed that we were the Happy Gang of the thirties, but instead of Burt Pearl we had Peggy Neville, and spent Friday congratulating our participants, Maude, Ezra and Jack. Archie Stouffer's ensemble were nearly as good as "The Canadian Brass". So keep practising and you will be. The Coopers pipes and tartan would have been sadly missed without them. What treat it would have been if Pam and Merve Kurtz were singing to the accompaniment of an electronic organ, and had added to their repertoire "Were You There". Carmen Coumbes put on what we can call real nice entertainment. The Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts choir can be congratulated in having such a talented conductor as Marilyn Stouffer. It was lovely. The County of Haliburton, take a bow. All of us from Extendicare much appreciated the courtesy shown to us and especially the emceeing of Lennie Salvatori.

After seeing Laura Ay-mong's gymnasts we will think of our ladies in the future as excelling in muscle, agility, poise and charm.

It was quite a coincidence when the Rev. Trevor Denny of St. George's Anglican Parish in conducting our Friday morning devotional period, quoted at the outset of his address to us the words of Christ, "Look closer and see me", a tremendous sermon by itself. We enjoy Rev. Trevor at these times and at the after service snack of tea or coffee and cookies.

Sunday afternoon Col. Ted Palmer and his officer wife Diane of the Wilberforce corps and officers Amelia Sibley and Lillian Hague of the Haliburton Salvation Army paid us a courtesy visit and more Gospel singing. Thanks.

Three members of the Haliburton chapter of the Canadian Cancer Society received certificates of service for their help to the local charity over the past 25 years. Accepting their awards from Charlie Currie, president of the Victoria-Haliburton unit were left to right, Maxime Curry, Madeline Austin and Peggie Neville with Ina Currie, campaign chairman of the Victoria-Haliburton unit, looking on. The three women have been involved in the society since its inception in Haliburton in 1955. Also on hand to present the ladies with the "caduceus" pin (the sword and snake symbol of the society) was district director John Lambert.

Film directed by Haliburton teacher

On Sunday, June 1 at 2:30 p.m. C.B.C. T.V. will be showing a film featuring The Chilkoot Trail, the legendary path of the gold rush to the Klondike. This spectacular film will be of special interest to local residents as it was filmed, directed and produced by a former teacher at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, Lyle Bebensee.

After leaving Haliburton, Bebensee taught in Oakville and at Humber College before taking an early retirement which enabled him to devote his time and energies to film making.

Attesting to the quality of his work is the fact his films are seen frequently on television and have won many awards. He has filmed Australia, New Zealand, the Niagara Escarpment, the old oil fields of southern Ontario and the Arctic.

creativity of its producer, as it required his trekking over those same passes himself, on three occasions.

"The Chilkoot Trail" is a tribute to the men and women who stormed those rugged mountain passes in 1898 in search of gold. It is also a tribute to the tenacity and

The film has received awards from the Banff Film Festival, The American Film Festival, Travel Industry Association and has been officially chosen for the Commonwealth Film Festival.

Norland Notebook

All members of council were present at the May 7 meeting in the municipal office, Norland. The petition of Ottawa-Carleton calling for a pedestrian crossover review was endorsed as was the petition of the Town of Dunnville calling for a uniform disaster fund policy. The road committee reported requests for gravel from Rush Lake and Sunset Beach, Head Lake. The recreation group said that work had been done on the ball diamond in Ward Memorial Park and the ball season is now open.

Representing Coboconk Medical Centre, James Hannivan and Fred Weir asked for financial assistance for the centre with the decision being deferred until the budget meeting. Council agreed to inspect the township dock next to the government dock before deciding on a request by Mrs. Gladys Pollard re: this property.

Representatives Leona Le-Craw and Jean Boyce of the Ladies Auxiliary were granted permission to have exhaust fans installed in the Norland Community Hall with the arrangements for payment as proposed by them.

A rural line service phone is to be installed in the township garage on Highway 503 at the turn-off for the waste disposal area.

By-law #8-80 repealing By-law #4-79 and setting new building permit fees was read three times and passed.

The clerk was authorized to submit an application for provincial grants for 1980-81 under the Home Renewal Program.

Council agreed to adopt residential standards as set down in Ontario Home Renewal Program guide for residential standards, October 1974, by the community renewal branch of the Ministry of Housing.

County planner is to be asked to process an amendment to By-law #6-73 to allow permanent residences with the by-law to be prepared for the next meeting.

The four corners of Lot 31, Plan 266, belonging to the township are to be identified with permanent markers to dissuade encroachment. Temporary permits are to be issued to trailer park operators for 1980 summer season. A special meeting was called for Wednesday, May 14 to set the budget and clear up unfinished business.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cove have sold their home on Highway 503, just west of Norland to Alex and Helen Graham, who were former residents of Norland before moving to Ireland. Mrs. Graham is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Pyke of Norland and will look forward to renewing friendships. As we say goodbye and wish the Coves Godspeed, we welcome the Grahams to Norland.

Kinmount United Church ladies invite you to their annual spring salad supper on Saturday, May 24 from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Legion auditorium hall. Adults are $4, children $1.50.

The Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts starts on Friday, May 23 and there will be events of interest throughout Lindsay and area until Sunday, June 1. Of special mention in this community - on Thursday, May 29 at 1:30 p.m. the school area pupils will be entertained by folksingers Avery and Greenhill at the Coboconk Legion hall, a few adults may attend by paying $1 admission. That same evening (May 29) at 7:30 p.m. the Happy Wanderers choral group will be in concert at the Coboconk Community Centre. Admission tickets at $2 each are available from all committee members. Special guest artist will be tubist, Henry Vant Erve of Peterborough Symphony, and formerly with the Faculty of Music at the University of Victoria, B.C. Norland Community Hall on Friday, May 30 from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. will feature a handcraft display and bake sale and light refreshments will be available from the snack bar. Children will especially enjoy the Polka Dot Door stage show on Saturday, May 31 at 10:00 a.m. in Coboconk Community Centre. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. The popular "Deck Hands" puppet show will be presented in Norland library at 2:30 p.m. and in Coboconk at 4:00 p.m. - at no charge for this show. Rev. James Merrett will be guest speaker at the interfaith service in Coboconk Community Centre on Sunday, June 1 at 2:00 p.m. Lots of things to see and do and don't forget Canada's own Tommy Hunter will present two concerts at the Academy Theatre, Lindsay on Saturday, May 31. One at 7:00 p.m. and the other at 9:30 p.m. All seats are reserved at $5 in advance and $6 at the door. Complete list of events appeared in Lindsay Post on Wednesday, May 14.

At the regular meeting of the Norland Leathercraft Club on Thursday, May 15 in Norland Public Library the group was instructed in various leather belt patterns by Mr. Jack Meharg of Toronto. Mr. Meharg also had different tools, some of which were unfamiliar to the members, that he used on his leather work and designs.

Coboconk Lion members met in Coboconk Community Hall for a meeting on Thursday, May 15. Following dinner a presentation was made by Bexley Councillors Jim Hannivan and Doug Michel on behalf of the Parks and Recreation Committee thanking the Lions for creating a park and telling the group about the township plans for the park and other recreational facilities in the community. A major project will be to install a much needed multi-purpose concrete pad and to incorporate gymnasium facilities into the existing hall. According to parks and recreation budget for 1980, $30,000 has been designated for improvements to the Lions Community Park. Lions Club bingo starts on Wednesday, May 28 and the carnival will be Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26. Lions have draw tickets for sale at 3 for $1.00 or .50 cents each with three chances of $300, $100 and $50.

Hockey pool winner of Norland Firefighter's Association was Judy LeCraw on Saturday, May 10.

We are going to the Shriners' Circus in Peterborough on May 20, 1980. These tickets have been given to us free of charge by the following Shriners: Dr. H. Good, Harold Kennedy, Marshal Leighton, Lloyd Coneybeare and Lester Walling. Thank you.

On May 6, Muriel Allport of the Eagle Lake Women's Group came to A.R.C. to help us cook. Helen Bobinski was cook and Murray McColl and Wyatt Legge decorated a birthday cake for Jack Eastman and Dale Jarvis who both had birthdays this week. We appreciate these ladies coming to A.R.C. to help with the cooking program.

This summer we are going to have a car wash. If you would like to have your car washed call A.R.C. at 457-1452 for an appointment.

The workshop is very busy making tee-off markers for the PineStone Inn.

On Friday, May 9 we saw films. The first one was about the Malécite Indians making baskets from black ash trees. The second one was about the History of Tea and the last one was about Upper Canada Village. Wyatt Legge ran the films.

In the afternoon Stan Packard and Helen Bobinski helped set up a display at the Rails' End Gallery of products that we make at A.R.C. This display was for the Friday evening meeting which the Deputy Minister of the Ministry of Community and Social Services, Robert Carman, was the guest speaker.

On May 12 Murray McColl, Bob Nimigon and Wyatt Legge went to Extensicare to sand lawn furniture. The rest of the crew went shopping for Tuesday's groceries and then dropped by Extensicare to visit us.

On May 13 Irene Patrie came to help us cook. Larry Watt, Murray McColl and Helen Bobinski made pancakes and sausages with pudding for dessert. It was so good, there weren't any leftovers.

Everyone worked very hard packing a large order for the Candlewood Gift store which was delivered this week.

On May 14 we finished the first part of the order from PineStone Inn for golf tee-off markers. PineStone Inn delivered planter barrels to A.R.C. to be painted. The workshop is working on an order of nine coat racks for another lodge.

We are going to Stephen Besse's place for a barbecue and games sometime in June.

On Friday, May 16 we saw films. We had two on water sports safety. The other was about a beaver making a dam. Bob Nimigon ran the films.

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

"We know life's never measured by how many years we live, but by the kindly things we do and the happiness we give."

On Saturday, May 3, our local fire department held their annual pig roast at the Dorset Community Centre. They had a huge crowd and wish to thank all those who came and made it a success.

We are happy that construction of the new fire hall has been started. It is located across from the community centre.

On May 3, Ted and Gloria Morris and daughters Bonnie and Jennifer attended the graduation of their son Richard from Algonquin Community College in Pembroke. Richard has attended the college for the past year and graduated as a woodworker. He is presently employed with the Ministry of Natural Resources.

A number of our local young men who are with the fire crew for Natural Resources, have been sent to northern Ontario to help fight the numerous fires that are raging in that part of the province. Apparently the fires are more numerous and of greater extent than is usual at this time of year, but due to the lack of precipitation during the winter months the forests are very dry and consequently vulnerable to an invasion by lightning or careless smokers or campers. Let's hope they are getting some of the same type weather we have been having, lots of rain. It's very sad the amount of forests that are destroyed in Canada and the U.S. by fire each year.

Four Dorset Rangers visited Huntsville Hospital on May 5 and presented the hospital administrator, Michael Ford, with a cheque for $184.50 to be used in the children's wing. The girls raised this money during a star-a-thon last year. The participants were Linda Clark, Kathy Lewis, Teresa Eaton, Kathy McLennan and Terry Lord.

The nice weather we had a week or so ago brought out our little black friends and I suppose as soon as it gets warm again they will be out in droves as I imagine in this damp cool weather they will be breeding like mad. Always something to take the joy out of life.

Helpful suggestion: If painting in fly time add a tablespoon of oil of Citronella to a gallon of paint and insects and flies will not get on freshly painted surfaces. If you have done your housecleaning and have rummage you wish to get rid of please call 766-2237.

Hope you all had a nice week, even if the weather was again 'us. Personally, I've had the latest bug that's going the rounds so I have seen better days but hope to be back to normal (whatever that means) in the very near future.

The A.C.W. catered to the wedding of the new Mr. and Mrs. McGee, nee Denise Bryant, on Saturday, May 10, at the community hall in Kinmount. The 103 guests sat down to a turkey dinner and seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly before thanking the ladies and then heading out to their dance at the Coboconk Legion. The bride was beautiful in white, slim lined gown and old

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

We understand that the road from the highway into the Haliburton dump will be paved in the very near future. This will certainly be an added improvement as this has always been a dirt road.

The Hilltop Market building near Haliburton has taken on a new look. You would hardly recognize the building with the new white siding. Yes, it's already for the busy Victoria Day weekend that lies ahead.

Ontario Hydro at Minden have announced that there will be a power interruption in Haliburton Village on Sunday, May 25 to accommodate system upgrading in the village. It will be necessary to interrupt power for approximately three hours between 5:00 a.m. and 8:00 a.m. the area affected is Haliburton Village - north to include Park Street and the Harburn Road, - East to Dover's Hill, - West to the High School, - South to include Donald and the Koshlong Area. The alternate date will be Sunday, June 1.

It's an important step in the right direction to relieve publishers and editors of newspapers from that unnecessary burden of having to agree with the opinions expressed in letters to the editor.

Ontario's Attorney-General Larry McMurtry has proposed changes in this regard that would allow a newspaper a defence in the case of defamation.

Everyone knows the good work that is done each and every day by the Salvation Army. To do this work it takes money to carry it on and in these days of high rising costs and inflation, it's going to take more money. The Salvation Army depends on your contributions to carry on and if you let them down they will be unable to help those who are in need of help in one way or the other. The Red Shield Appeal in Haliburton County runs for the month of May with a local objective of $6000. We are very sorry to say that up to this time only $2000. has come in which is a long way from the objective and as you can see, time is running out. Please think this over for a moment and if you have not given your donation to this most worthy cause please do so right away. You will never know just how much it will be appreciated. Help the Salvation Army face the needs of today, and the next day and the next. Give to the Red Shield Appeal. Give us this day.

Highlands Secondary School, was a recent speaker at a meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. Speaking on the subject of drugs he noted that because of its ease of portability, detection of a carrier was virtually impossible. Age of first time users was down to 12 - 13 years. A study of heroin addicts found that 99 percent of them had used marijuana first. Initially the view was that use of marijuana was harmless (to the delight of pushers) however, doctors and psychiatrists after long studies have found definite proof that it can be very damaging to the mind and body. Mr. Mosgrove gave a very interesting talk on this matter which proved to be of real interest to the members as shown by the many questions during the question and answer period.

It's really good to see our jovial postmaster Jim Perrin back on the job after being on the sick list which forced him to have a short stay at the Civic Hospital in Peterborough.

The exterior of the Full gospel Lighthouse in Haliburton is receiving a real face lifting job. A new paint job has just been completed on the outside of the building and we understand that some big changes are being planned for the front of the church.

Work is underway once again on the new park on Head Lake at Haliburton and the grounds are really taking shape. At the present time they are planting small pine trees and these trees are really making the park area look very attractive. A great deal of work is yet to be done on this site but it shouldn't be too much longer before the project will be completed.

It bothers me at times to see flags flying that are weather beaten. Such is the case at the Dysart Arena in Haliburton where they are flying a worn-out Canadian flag that should be replaced as soon as possible.

The Rotary Clubs of Haliburton and Minden will be Bridgenorth bound on June 2 where they will be meeting with the club there for a joint meeting and get-together.

Reeve Murray Fearrey was on deck for a ribbon cutting of the new Bank of Montreal which opened in Haliburton on Monday morning at 10:00 a.m. This is a beautiful building which should prove to be a great asset to the village. It is located directly across the street from their former location.

The long hockey season is over for Ron Stackhouse who toiled all winter and into the spring on defence for the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League. We met Ron in Haliburton on Monday.

The Norland Volunteer Firefighters gave their audience an excellent display of fireworks last Sunday night. The show was put on at the park along Highway 35 as part of the Victoria Day weekend celebrations. The display started as soon as the sky started to darken. Cars filled with excited children packed the area to capacity.

Galway Cavendish has council meeting

At a meeting of Galway/Cavendish council May 10, the following matters were discussed.

Severance B-61-80, Daniel Walker, Concession 2, Lot 26, Cavendish, was supported as if conforms to the North Kawartha Official Plan and Zoning By-law 78-43. Approval was granted subject to a fee of $50 being paid to the township prior to the deed being stamped by the secretary of the Peterborough County Land Division Committee.

Carl Brickman, reeve proclaimed the week of May 10 through May 16, 1980 as "Municipal Clerk's Week" in recognition of their outstanding dedication and contribution to the communities they serve.

A by-law to amend By-law 78-43, as amended by the Committee of the Whole was read a third time, passed and numbered 80-14. Content of by-law: That any cottage erected prior to the passing of By-law 78-43 and the said cottage is situated within the seventy-foot setback from the high water mark, then the owner shall be permitted to construct a sundeck that is attached to the cottage, provided that sundeck adheres to the following restrictions: - the deck shall not exceed twelve feet from the cottage, - the deck shall not come closer to the high water mark than twenty feet, - no roof or any structure shall be erected on or under the sundeck save and except a handrail. A by-law to authorize the conveyance and execution of easement agreements between the Corporation of the United Townships of Galway and Cavendish, H.M. Digham Corporation Ltd. and Diana Mary Digham, was passed.

This by-law is to convey three right-of-ways to the owners of Concession 10, part Lot 30, in Galway Township.

Rev. Crump to speak at Bible conference

The Ministry of the Kawartha Lakes Bible Conference, which is now past its 40th year in Bobcaygeon, resumes in Knox Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, June 1. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. but for all who are able to make it there will be a hymn sing at 7:15 p.m. Speaker for the occasion is the Reverend Bill Crump, widely known throughout the area as Director of Fair Havens Bible Conference centre between Beaverton and Kirkfield on Highway 48. He will bring a message

County wildflowers abundant

by Eleanor Skelton

The woods of Haliburton are second to none when it comes to variety and abundance of early wildflowers.

We have already seen the delicate little pink and white candy-striped Spring Beauty (Claytonia caroliniana) come and go at the beginning of the month and violets, which have a longer season are becoming abundant. Violets are the symbols of love and romance whether they come in white; yellow, blue, or purple. We think that someone must have been aware that there are at least 16 different species of violets in the county when the slogan was invented "Haliburton is for Lovers".

Much rarer in the area is the Coltsfoot (Tussilago farfara). Interesting for its various forms during its life cycle it is worth watching if you are fortunate enough to spot a patch of it. First it comes up as woolly spears around the end of April or early May. Then the tips break out into yellow flowers resembling small dandelions, and these ripen into seed carrying fluff sometime in June. The leaves do not appear until the flowers are ripening and are shaped like small hooves - with a few added points along the edges. The Latin name Tussilago means cough remedy and the ancients used it extensively for that purpose. Originally a European and Asiatic species it has lived on this continent for some time. There is a good patch to be seen along the edge of the Poverty Bay Road, south side, just before you come to the end of the bay. They should not be picked.

Stepping into most woods these days we encounter beds of the mottled green leaves of the Trout Lily (Erythronium americanum) with the occasional nodding lily-like flower of rich butter yellow and striking large red-brown anthers protruding beyond the petals.

Another lovely lily is the pale yellow Bellwort (Uvularia grandiflora) with its long slim dangling flowers which sway in the breeze as all bells should. The pale green leaves clasp the stem at their attachments and also sway.

Looking skyward we note that the Sugar Maples (Acer saccharum) and the Manitoba Maples (Acer negundo) have put out their long, hanging, clusters of pale green flowers along with the new leaves. The Sugar Maple, chosen for our national flag, is familiar to all while the Manitoba Maple, often called the Ash-leaved Maple or Box Elder, because of its narrow leaflets is familiar on the streets of Haliburton Village where there are many fine old specimens.

Farm News and Views

What is new and different in forage handling equipment? Come to the Victoria County Forage Day to find out.

Forage Day is being held on Wednesday, May 28th on the farm of Bob Dykstra. Bob's farm is on County Road #6 about mid-way between Oakwood and Little Britain. The Forage Day program will feature both displays and demonstrations of forage equipment. The first demonstration will be of forage harvesters and will start at 12:30 p.m. This will be followed by a demonstration of conventional balers at 1:30 p.m. and of mower-conditioners at 2:30 p.m.

Participants are encouraged to come early to have ample time to view the fashioned floppy hat and her attendants, four sisters, were lovely in their old fashioned tulip-like gowns and floppy hats and all carried similar flowers which were on a type of closed umbrella. Very pretty. The groom was handsome, aren't they all - and the four men attendants were all garbed in beige suits with dark brown stripe down the side of the trousers. The happy couple were wed in the Baptist Church in Norland. A big thank you to all the ladies who helped and a special thanks to Betty and John Lonsdale, Brent Anderson and Lyle Anderson who made our day much easier.

On Wednesday evening, May 7 pupils and staff at the Kinmount public school hosted the annual open house as their part of a province-wide program which reflected the theme "Together in Education". Parents and pupils participated in singing the theme song, "Together", accompanied by Mrs. Sandra Valentine at the piano. Mrs. Phil Childs from the Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit presented a display of dental pamphlets and encouraged parents to participate in the fluoride rinse. Pupils of grades 1, 2 and 3 entertained in the library with plays, pantomimes and a collection of French songs conducted by Mr. Charles Lutz. An active display of all audio-visual equipment was presented by students and parents were invited to view films, videotapes and participate in a lesson at the listening station. Mr. Clare Fielder, local trustee for the area attended. An address for Education Week from the Minister of Education, Dr. Bette Stephenson was read aloud by one of the students. After viewing classroom displays and activities, guests were served refreshments in the senior room by student members of the Red Cross. It was a very enjoyable evening.

An open house was also held at the Highlands Cinema in Kinmount on both Saturday and Sunday evenings. We attended the Sunday evening showing of California Suite and there is no doubt in our house that we will be going to "our own" theatre again. The seats are set so that you can see the screen no matter how big a person is sitting in front of you and said seats are also very comfortable. Family season tickets are available and for further information you may call Keith Stata of 488-2107.

Welcome home to Bill and Win Wilson, R.R. 1, Kinmount who have been visiting in Windsor and travelling on down to Ohio and Kentucky. They arrived home Tuesday, May 13 after their enjoyable trip of two weeks. Glad to have you back folks.

Helen and Alex Graham have been very busy people. In the little better than one week since they returned from Ireland they have purchased a house, furnishings, plus and a new car. They can hardly wait to get into their own home again. I hope you have many happy years there together.

Marie Card, Jackson's Point, Audrey Belanger, Rexdale, both daughters of Mary L. Pyke, Norland, phoned to say hello on mother's own day. Amy Coker, Uterston, another daughter, came down to visit for the day.

Thank you Lorrie and Bill for the lovely bouquet and you too, Jason, for the really nice spoon for my collection. Thanks too, for the dinner.

We have a new citizen in our town! A wee daughter was born, May 13, to Jane and Wayne Rolfe. Little sister for Zoie. Best wishes to you all.

Don't forget the Kinmount

United Church Spring Salad Supper, to be held at the Royal Canadian Legion hall in Kinmount, on May 24 from 4 to 7 p.m. Prices are very reasonable at, adults - $4.00, students to age 12 - $1.50 and pre-schoolers, free. Hosted by Kinmount United Church women, it will be in a buffet style and you can eat all you can hold. This is the fifth year for this affair and you shouldn't miss the chance to try all the home-made goodies.

The $280 jackpot at the Lions' bingo in Kirkfield went to a lucky lady on the 58th number, on Tuesday, May 13. She then went on to win a further $10 prize. Congratulations!

Ruth Menard was a lucky first time winner of $50 on a Nevada ticket the same night, at Kirkfield. Good going Ruth!

The euchre results in Kinmount, Tuesday, May 13 saw Ray Hobbs holding most lone hands; Claude Crego with men's high; Ward Crego, men's low; Gladys Anderson was high ladies' and Florence Schlosser was ladies' low.

Yvonne Dyer is catching lots of trout right off the gas dock at the Crystal pier and I hear many of the fishermen are catching their limit.

Happy birthday to Jefferey S. on May 14 and to John Pyke on May 26.

Don't forget our shut-ins, try to make their days a little brighter by giving a little of yourself in the form of a card, a phone call or a visit.

Have a safe, happy time with your fireworks displays entitled "How to live a 'Yes I Can' Christian Life" which will be very helpful and timely for all.

Crump is a minister of the Associated Gospel Church presently pastoring the Fair Havens Community Church which is part of the conference complex. This congregation has been in existence for about three years and growing steadily. He has been the guiding force in making Fair Havens one of the premier Bible Conference Centres in Canada. It too, is constantly expanding under his leadership. In all aspects of this ministry Bill Crump is assisted by his wife Betty. Prior to coming to Fair Havens a little over 15 years ago, he was on the Faculty of Ontario Bible College in the music department.

Carnarvon News by Yvonne Penney

The first holiday weekend of the season is over and there was a great number of visitors to the area. We had a little rain on Sunday but otherwise the weather was great. The woods are full of trilliums these days and the trees are breaking out in leaf. It certainly is a beautiful time of year.

The Carnarvon Brownie Pack have been busy selling cookies recently and also enjoyed a tour of the O.P.P. detachment in Minden during police week.

Gail Barnhart enjoyed a trip to New Brunswick last week. She and her sister Sandra drove to Fredericton with Greg Bishop and his parents to attend Greg's graduation from the University of New Brunswick. Congratulations to Greg who has received his Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering.

Some four hundred people attended the 4th annual Scout Festival of Fun held last week at the high school in Haliburton. Len Salvatori did a great job as M.C. for the evening. The Cubs and Scouts opened the program with a "Grand Howl" and a few words of welcome by one of our Carnarvon Cubs, Bradley Archer. We were treated to music by a variety of groups - Bill Gliddon's school choir, a music ensemble from Archie Stouffer school in Minden, a selection of gospel songs by the pastor of the Full Gospel Lighthouse and his wife, selections of country music by Carmen Coumbes and his band and the Guild Choir under the direction of Marilyn Stouffer. All of these groups gave excellent performances. We also enjoyed a sing-along of old favourites with the "Happy Gang of Extenders". One of the group from Extenders sang for us and another recited a poem. Andy Cooper did an amusing recitation and the Haliburton Highlands Little Theatre was represented by two of its members. Some students of Mrs. Aymong's gymnastic club gave an excellent display of gymnastics. It was a most enjoyable evening and the Haliburton County Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities is most grateful to the Scouting Association for the donation of the free-will offering.

Pam and Derek Rolfe attended the graduation of their son Paul on May 10 in Lindsay. Paul has graduated as a geological technician from the Frost Campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College. He will be employed as an assistant to the Chief Geologist at Madawaska Mines near Bancroft, involved with exploration on the mine site for the summer months.

There has been a change because of the high school band concert being held May 22, in the date for the next public meeting of the Haliburton County Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (A.C.L.D.). The meeting will now be held May 29, 8:00 p.m. at the high school in Haliburton. This meeting will take the form of a discussion with parents to plan a continuing program for the summer months. All interested parents are urged to attend. See you there!

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Blake, Michelle and Peter spent the holiday weekend on Mountain Lake with Jim and Shirley Howe and family. Paul and Gwen Harrison and Colin and Julie Russell of Montreal spent the weekend with their families here in Carnarvon.

This weekend, we saw the first publication of the new "Metro" Carnarvon Cliff-hanger". The new metro motto is "We're not here to see through each other - but to see each other through". This sounds like a great motto for a group of business people.

The track team from H.H.S.S. attended a track meet at Trent University in Peterborough last week and are to be congratulated as they came first among the smaller schools and 6th out of 19 schools, some of which were much larger than our school here.

Barb and Jim Fryer and boys, who are former residents of Carnarvon, spent the weekend here visiting friends.

From the United Church Bulletin of May 18 - "Money is like manure - it is offensive until it is spread."

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

My goodness, the weather man sure didn't help out last weekend did he? Even though Saturday was a lovely day and the town was crowded, Sunday sure put a crimp on all cottage activities, even if Monday wasn't as bad.

After a quiet winter it seemed a bit of a shake to see all the traffic and people around town on Saturday. From now on one might better walk to the stores if possible on Saturdays for it will continue to be busy, busy, I hope.

At Rotary bingo last Thursday evening, the jackpot of $250. was won in 58 numbers by Jack Francis of RR 1, Fenelon Falls.

Jim and Elinor Burke enjoyed their visit with Jim's sister in Germany while they were across the ocean.

Thank you kind Scarborough ladies for your letter in last week's Echo. It sure helps when one knows that folk feel kindly to one.

Mrs. Marjory Francis held a birthday party for her father, Mr. Jim Minaker last Sunday afternoon. Despite the rain a number of his friends from Lochlin and Minden called in to wish him happy birthday and enjoyed chatting with him.

Mr. Glenn Stamp of Oshawa and Glenda Stamp of Whitby spent the holiday weekend in the village.

Last week I didn't have the space to tell you what other prizes I have received so will let you know now; that I'll be taking French lessons this year. I received the complete kit from Liguaphone Institute for 40 lessons. From Stokely Vancamp I received $50. of coupons for their canned products, that will help us out in vegetables for next winter, won't it? There are still two prizes to come. Maybe I'll need those French lessons if the Quebec vote goes "Oui"; and to think I was born in Montreal. Oh well, I'm Canadian for all that!

Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson and family spent the holiday weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. Nell Anderson. Mr. Stewart Bull of Oakville visited friends and relatives over the weekend.

Have you sampled the goodies you can get at "Dave's Chips". This just opened up last weekend and sure did a lot of business after the dances. The chips are not frozen ones and all who tasted the onion rings said they just melt in your mouth. Dave's Chips has many other goodies to offer as well, and the price is right.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

The large crowd in attendance at the recent shower for Roberta Walsh was proof of the high esteem in which she is held by members of the community. Whenever a social event or fund-raising project is taking place, to assist one of the many organizations in the area, Roberta is always there with a helping hand. She can always be found behind a counter or giving out candy and pop at the annual Santa Claus arrival. Since its inception she has worked as leader of the Brownie pack. At the shower people had a chance to show their appreciation and affection by showering her with numerous lovely gifts and best wishes. The Legion Hall had been tastefully decorated and an attractive table was set up with refreshments for the guests. Roberta's mother, Reta Bidgood, came from Peterborough for the event.

The South Algonquin Kinsmen were blessed with a very fine day for their annual auction sale and the numerous activities planned for the day. They were pleased with the attendance and appreciate the support of those who participated in the event. The auction was carried along by that experienced master auctioneer Sterling Mather who has enough charm to make any article a valuable necessity. Two handsome bicycles were won in a draw by Miss Chantel LaRue.

The evening dance drew a good crowd of happy people who had an enjoyable time as they danced to the music of "Rainbow".

The Memorial Centre is a busy place these days. A list of events for the week include the first of the firemen's bingo games being held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. Friday night is special for the Youth in Action group as they celebrate their first anniversary. They will be showing a film entitled "Tough Men". Also on Friday the last of the craft classes will take place at the library under the direction of Donna Herbert. It is to be hoped that roller skating at the arena will commence on Friday evening and continue on Saturday evening providing that the new skates have arrived in time. On Saturday evening at St. Margaret's Anglican Church a special treat is in store with a presentation of glorious music by the choir of St. Joseph of Nazareth in Bramalea under the direction of Miss Ann Smith. This heart warming experience will be repeated at the Sunday service and all are invited to attend. Holy Eucharist will be at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. on May 25.

On Tuesday, May 27 the action takes place in the ball field as Wilberforce ladies team takes on West Guilford. Support your local team. They may get lucky like the Blue Jays. I believe they are still looking for a coach. Also on Tuesday at 7 p.m. the senior citizens meet at the Memorial Centre. Meetings will all be held in the evening until the fall. A warm welcome awaits visitors.

hip in the mishap. Damage to his car was estimated at $5000.

A 19-year old Scarborough man was charged with careless driving after his vehicle sideswiped another on Highway 35 south of Miner's Bay, Saturday afternoon.

Brian Love was northbound on Highway 35 and failed to negotiate a curve to his right.

He crossed over the centre line and collided with the left side of a vehicle driven by Walter Meadows, 55 of Richmond Hill.

Love was charged with careless driving. No one was hurt in the mishap.

Damage to Love's car was estimated at $1000, while damage to Meadows vehicle was estimated at $3000.

various displays. Refreshments will be available.

Forage Day is sponsored by the Victoria Soil and Crop Improvement Association with the co-operation of the five farm equipment dealers in the Lindsay area. Each dealer will be featuring at least one piece of equipment which is special to his company.

Arnott Farm Equipment are hoping to have a new style of baler from Heston available to demonstrate. They will also feature an "Auto-bev" grinder for sharpening forage knives.

Morgan Baker Equipment Ltd. will be demonstrating the new John Deere forage harvester with the "Dura-drum" cutter head.

The New Idea "Cut-ditioner" will be featured by Callaghan Farm Supply.

Hub International Farm Equipment will be demonstrating a new I.H. baler for farms with up to 10,000 bales and a new mower-conditioner.

Bob Mark Ford Tractor Sales Ltd. will be demonstrating the New Holland automatic bale wagon.

Of interest to many farmers will be the demonstrations of this week.

Mary and Norm Graham were visitors of Mary L. and John Pyke and Helen and Alex Graham at Norland, on Thursday, May 15.

I enjoyed our chat on Thursday evening, Kay Hill. Pleased to see you back in the area.

Marie and Bill Card, of Jackson's Point, were Wednesday, May 14 guests of Mary L. and John Pyke, Norland.

Jason has been our house guest from Friday to Sunday and thank you Victor for becoming his friend. He really enjoyed his day with you on Saturday.

Joyce Hills is home from Scarborough, after spending a few days with daughter, son-in-law, and new granddaughter. Nice to see you back Joyce.

One little boy was heard to say this week, "I came inside 'cause the fruit flies are so bad out there."

Well folks, that's it for another week. Give me a call at 488-2399; be glad to hear from you. In the meantime, have a nice day.

sharpening the knives on forage harvesters. And participants can check on their ability to guess the moisture content in haylage.

This will be the first time in many years that a program like this has been held in this area. Forage Day should provide a lot of useful and timely information to all area farmers just before they start harvesting their important forage crops.

Agricrew Available Again

Could you use some extra help on your farm for a few days this summer? If so, you need an Agricrew.

The Agricrew program provides farmers with help for a variety of special jobs. A crew consists of 4 young people, all with farm experience. Farmers hire a crew on a day to day basis. The cost of a day's service to the farmer is $90.00.

Louise VanCamp of Blackstock is co-ordinating the Agricrew Program in Victoria and Haliburton Counties, as well as Durham Region. Any farmers wishing to arrange for an Agricrew to help them this summer, should contact the Agricultural Office as soon as possible so that Louise can start scheduling the work for her crews. The crews are available from June 23 until August 16.

If you have some odd jobs on your farm you've been putting off doing, get them done this summer with the help of an Agricrew.

daughter Rachel of Mississauga spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hughes.

Running boards! How I miss them. Saturday, I saw several old cars on the main street and it took me back to childhood days when my father used to let us stand on the running board of his car from the road into the house area.

Mrs. Maude Coulter is spending this week with Mrs. Amy Milligan at Newtonville. Although I have yet to see him, I am told that Chris Pritchard is home. He spent seven years in the Armed Forces but has come back to civilian life.

The Paul Warburtons of Scarborough, the Glen Sears of Oshawa; Miss Sandra Sears of Toronto, all visited the Milt Sears during the holiday.

Adios and take care now.
